Ramstein, Poland partner for Atlantic Resolve

U.S. Airmen assigned to the 934th Airlift Wing out of Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, take off in a C-130H Hercules Oct. 16 from Powidz Air Base, Poland, during the latest iteration of Operation Atlantic Resolve. The NATO-led exercise prepares U.S. and Polish Airmen to work together in order to increase interoperability and enhance regional security.

POWIDZ AIR BASE, Poland — More than 100 Airmen assigned to the 86th Airlift Wing, along with two C-130J Super Hercules said, 'tschuess,' to Germany and, 'cześć,' to Poland for the latest iteration of Operation Atlantic Resolve.

"We're here as part of the aviation rotation to operate and train with the Polish air force," said Capt. Jonathan Hansen, 37th Airlift Squadron pilot and OAR mission commander.

The mission of OAR entails enhancing interoperability with the Polish air force while also maintaining regional security. The NATO-led OAR mission goes back to 2014.

"We're here to stand side by side with our Polish brothers," Hansen said. "They're one of our strongest NATO partners, and we're here to stand shoulder to shoulder with them."

The 86th AW Airmen arrived in Poland on Oct. 13 and began flying operations Oct. 16. Along with the 86th AW, Airmen assigned to the Ramstein will host the 2017 ESPN Armed Forces Classic NCAA game between the Texas A&M Aggies and West Virginia Mountaineers in Hangar 5 the evening of Nov. 10.

All active duty, Department of Defense and NATO ID-card holders are eligible to attend the event. Tickets have been dispersed to wing, group, and tenant unit commanders and directors. Anyone interested in receiving a ticket can make a request through their chain of command.

"We are pleased to have the opportunity to extend our relationship with the Department of Defense," said Clint Overby, ESPN events vice president. "The premier event will continue its tradition of showcasing the beginning of each college basketball season while honoring the service of the men and women stationed at military bases across the world."

One ticket corresponds to one attendee, and there are no reserve tickets for last minute requests. Anyone wanting a guaranteed ticket can sign up to volunteer at www.86fss.com and will receive one ticket per shift. Due to the large scope of the event, the 86th Force Support Squadron will need event volunteers from Nov. 6 to Nov. 12 for set-up and tear-down of the hangar.

"This is an opportunity to showcase the men and women of Ramstein and how we proudly execute the mission every day for the most powerful Air Force the world has ever known," said Brig. Gen. Richard G. Moore, Jr., commander of the 86th Airlift Wing. "We're putting on a world-class event and Ramstein is deeply honored to have a hand in launching the NCAA basketball season."

Ticket holders will need to be in their seats in Hangar 5, Bldg. 3360, no later than 11 p.m. Active duty attendees are required to be in the uniform of the day and civilians in business casual attire.

Active duty personnel in uniform and DOD ID-card holders are eligible to enter a stand-by line if they did not receive a ticket, and may get a seat for the game on a space-available basis.

All tickets will be tracked to ensure they are not sold, and no outside food, drinks, coolers, backpacks or pets will be allowed in the hangar.

Daylight Savings Time change takes place on Sunday. Germany will "fall back" 1 hour at 3 a.m. However, the United States will not "fall back" until the morning of Nov. 5.
Please be aware of the time difference for the week.

Flight Commanders Course prepares young officers for leadership

Capt. Justin Klawitter, 521st Air Mobility Operations Wing Cyberspace Operations chief, speaks to company grade officers during the Flight Commander and Officer in Charge Leadership Development Course Oct. 16 on Ramstein Air Base. The course is designed to prepare young officers for their new roles and responsibilities as Air Force leaders.

The 521st Air Mobility Operations Wing hosted a three-day Flight Commander and Officer in Charge Leadership Development Course to prepare young officers from the 521st AMOW, the 86th Airlift Wing and the 435 Air Ground Operations Wing for their new roles and responsibilities Oct. 16 to 18.

New commissioned officers often take on leadership roles where they are responsible for an entire section of their squadron. Commonly, enlisted Airmen make up the majority of these flights. While officers do receive training for basic leadership skills and specific training for their respective jobs, the Flight Commanders Course dives deeper and focuses on critical leadership knowledge and leadership philosophy.

"Lt. Col. Vandevere and I took a practical approach to this course," said Capt. Justin Klawitter, 521st Air Mobility Operations Wing Cyberspace Operations chief. "In addition to covering the leadership development curriculum provided by Air Mobility Command, we coordinated supporting base agencies to give an overview of the services available to Airmen. We also had squadron commanders' and first sergeants' panels, and asked other former and current senior enlisted leaders to provide their perspectives on how to best take care of and grow Airmen."

The course kicked off with a video of Gen. Carlton D. Everhart II, Air Mobility Command commander, giving an introductory speech for the students.

"As General Everhart pointed out in the welcome video, people are our most valuable weapon system, and it's important for leaders to create an environment where Airmen can develop and grow," said Klawitter. "This additional expectation is levied on those officers selected for flight commander and officer in charge roles so it's important for them to hone their ability to do just that."

Students found the training to be insightful.

"In just three days, I think we all gained significant mentoring, concrete skills and methods, knowledge of resources, and were challenged to think deeply about our roles as future commanders and leaders," said Capt. Carrie Serjeant, 86th Medical Group executive officer and Flight Commanders Course student. "We covered a lot of practical information such as financial management, commander's responsibilities, and the enlisted promotion system. But more importantly, we got to delve into critical thinking related to leadership, decision-making, and self-development as officers."

Serjeant said the course gave her a better understanding of the impact she can have as a flight commander or OIC.

"I think we were encouraged to view leadership as an active, deliberate process; being present for those we lead, actively seeking feedback, and developing Airmen," she said.

The Flight Commanders Course will continue to train and develop young officers into leadership roles.

"I hope that similar courses will be developed and offered in the future," said Serjeant. "Having the opportunity to hear squadron and wing-level leadership perspectives in an open, candid environment was awesome."

Heart Link takes to the skies

For many military spouses, moving to a new area can present a number of challenges. In an effort to mitigate some of these obstacles, the Ramstein Airman and Family Readiness Center hosted its Heart Link program Sept. 28, which was geared towards information and networking opportunities for military spouses.

As an extension of that program, spouses who had participated in the event were able to take an incentive flight on a C-130J Super Hercules Oct. 17.

"The flight was fantastic," said Erin Heartless, Heart Link participant and Ramstein military spouse. "It was a beautiful day, a great crowd and the flight crew was amazing. Flying at such a low altitude, I don't think very many of us are used to that, so being able to see that and the smoothness of the flight was a pleasant surprise."

The C-130 was flown and manned by pilots and loadmasters from the 37th Airlift Squadron. During the hour-long flight, the spouses were able to visit the flight deck and move around the aircraft to take pictures or ask the crew questions, except for when the ramp door was lowered. At that time, all the participants were required to remain seated with their seatbelts on but could look out the back as the two loadmasters took photos for them on the spouses' phones.

"I thought the flight went really well," said Airman 1st Class Benjamin McElwain, 37th AS loadmaster. "Everyone seemed to have a lot of fun, asked a lot of questions and we got to open the ramp in-flight. The look on their faces looking out the window during take-off and landing is the same look I had during my first in-flight, so that was really cool. I really enjoyed it, getting to show off what I and the pilots do."

The target audience for Heart Link is military spouses who have been married for five years or less, but it is a free event for any spouse who is interested.

"The Heart Link program was different than we expected. It was great," said Jessica Menasco, Heart Link participant and Ramstein military spouse. "It wasn't just PowerPoint briefings but more engaging and networking. I would recommend Heart Link to anybody, whether they're a spouse who just came into the military or have been in for more than 20 years. It's very engaging with lots of good information."

Heart Link is held twice a year, with the next event taking place Feb. 12. For more information about the event, contact the A&FRC at 480-5100 or 06371-47-5100.

TAKE NOTE

LVIS Gate closes

The Large Vehicle Inspection Site Gate will be closed Tuesday and Wednesday due to German holidays. Motorists are asked to access Ramstein Air Base through the east or west gate.

Traffic fines increase

Using a cell phone, or any electronic device, changed from €60 to €100 per ticket, and could potentially cause offenders to lose their license for one month. Hindering first responder services on the freeway has changed from a €20 to €200 fine. Stay off your devices, keep your eyes on the road, and if you hear a siren move out of the way.

Office closures

The KMC Housing Office as well as the Furnishings Management Section will be closed Tuesday and Wednesday due to German legal holidays. Customer service hours will resume Thursday.

The German legal office of the 86th Airlift Wing Judge Advocate Office in Bldg. 2137 on Ramstein Air Base will be closed Monday through Nov. 3.

Halloween event

The 86th Force Support Squadron will present Trunk or Treat from 5 to 7 p.m. Tuesday at Ramstein's Donnelly Park. The free event includes trick or treating, a spooky forest trail and healthy snack station.

Military Star card

To offer greater convenience to service members and their families and further strengthen funding of critical Quality-of-Life programs, the military exchanges' Exchange Credit program will expand acceptance of the Military Star Card to all commissaries around the world, including the Vogelweh and Ramstein commissaries. By Nov. 9, the card will be accepted throughout the Defense Commissary Agency for all branches of service.

Retire in Germany

The next Retiree In Germany briefing will be conducted by the 86th Airlift Wing Retiree Activities Office at 1 p.m. today in Bldg. 2120, Room 105. In order to attend, sign up with the RAO by calling 480-5486, or 06371-47-5486, or email at 86aw.rao@us.af.mil. ISpouses are encouraged to attend.

Estate Claims

Anyone having any claims on or obligations to the estate of Spc. Rollin R. Carey, U.S. Army Signal Activity-Kaiserslautern, 102nd Signal Battalion, 2nd Signal Brigade, should call Summary Court Officer Chief Warrant Officer 2 Juan L. Muralles at 486-6744 or email juan.l.muralles.mil@mail.mil.

New Kaiserslautern app

Smart phone users will find a new free app in their app store called "Stadt Kaiserslautern" for Android and iOS, which the city of Kaiserslautern is offering. It replaces the former Kaiserslautern-App. It offers information on eGovernment services such as appointments in the Buergercenter, waiting times and open parking spots. There are also recreational ideas, sights, guided tours and cultural events listed. With audio guides, users can listen into information on specific sights.

Green Dot training

Have you taken your annual Green Dot training? If not it is not too late to sign up. This annual training increases awareness and prevention of interpersonal violence, to include sexual assault, domestic and interpersonal violence, and suicide. We are providing additional training opportunities in order to spread the Green Dot creed and culture to the entire community. This year, you have two choices for your training. If you completed the Green Dot training last year you only need to take the Green Dot Refresher training (about 1 hour). If you have never taken the Green Dot training, you need to take the Green Dot Initial training (about 1.5 hours). Civilian attire is authorized. The 86th Airlift Wing Violence Prevention Integrators want all active duty air Force members and full-time Air Force civilians and non-appropriated funds employees to get this important training completed sooner, rather than later. Sign up for your training now at the AF Green Dot SharePoint site, or call the Violence Prevention Integrators at 480-1422. No one has to do everything, but everyone has to do something.

Free layaway at KMCC

Military members, families and retirees can get a head-start on holiday shopping with fee-free layaway from the Army and Air Force Exchange Service. The Kaiserslautern Military Community Center Exchange will waive the $3 service fee for items that are placed on layaway and paid for by Dec. 24, including toys and bikes. Purchases of $25 or more are eligible for the layaway plan. A deposit of 15 percent is required to hold items on layaway. Shoppers can visit customer service at the KMCC Exchange for complete program details and eligibility information.

Allied Air Force chiefs and senior enlisted leaders from 24 NATO nations convened Oct. 16 to 17 at Allied Air Command on Ramstein Air Base for the second NATO Air Chiefs' symposium of 2017.

Chaired by the commander of Allied Air Command, Gen. Tod D. Wolters, the semi-annual forum was held to discuss joint and air domain issues. The event also brought together the Supreme Allied Commander Transformation, General Denis Mercier and air chiefs from five partner nations. Additionally, for the first time, the air chief from NATO's 29th member, Montenegro, took part in the two-day symposium.

To provide context to the discussions, the air chiefs met on Oct. 16 to attend informational multi-media presentations, a NATO Allied Air Command mission brief, and tours of the operations and situation centers as well as a NATO E-3A AWACS aircraft. In opening the symposium, Wolters welcomed the air chiefs and senior enlisted leaders and presented his perspectives on the current security environment and NATO's strategic shift from assurance to deterrence.

Allied Air Force chiefs and senior enlisted leaders from 24 NATO nations pose for a photo during the second NATO Air Chiefs' Symposium 2017. The event took place Oct. 16 and 17 at Allied Air Command on Ramstein Air Base.

"Air and space power remains one of NATO's asymmetric advantages, and our unmatched responsiveness and flexibility are available 365, 24/7 to counter any emerging threats to the alliance" Wolters said. "We are leading agents of deterrence and defense; this is a very powerful position that promotes peace among our continents."

After a strategic context update and a 'Tour d'horizon' delivered by Mercier, discussions included: "Current Environment," "Adapting For the Changing Environment" and "Focus on Future Capabilities." Topics covered air contributions to enhanced forward presence, the counter Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant mission and a discussion of modern aircraft integration in NATO. Leading the integration of existing and evolutionary fifth-generation platforms will expand NATO's ability to exploit and dominate the air domain.

Wolters stressed the importance of the discussions generated by the NATO Air Chiefs' Symposium.

"The discussions we share daily and then collectively within this forum ensure that together our commitment will allow us to continue to successfully execute our mission on behalf of our great alliance," Wolters said.

934th Airlift Wing, out of Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, brought their C-130s as well.

"We're working with our partner nation allies to bring our own tactics and procedures together to meld them into one," Hansen said. "Since we speak different tactical languages and some of our procedures are slightly different, opportunities like this are very important so that we can get everything hashed out and gain that experience between our communities."

While training with the Polish, 37th AS pilots and loadmasters practiced tactics they wouldn't normally have the chance to practice.

For this particular iteration, pilots are practicing formation inter-flying, where aircraft of different models fly in a single formation. While this sounds simple enough, the reality is much more difficult, Hansen said.

"We're operating with models of the C-130, which are much older," Hansen said. "The 'H' model (operated by the reserves) and the 'E' model, which the Polish operate, are vastly different in a lot of regards, so actually operating with them, flying with them, talking with them is something a lot of us haven't had the opportunity to experience."

For two weeks, 86th Airlift Wing Airmen will train alongside their reserve brethren and some new Polish brothers and sisters.

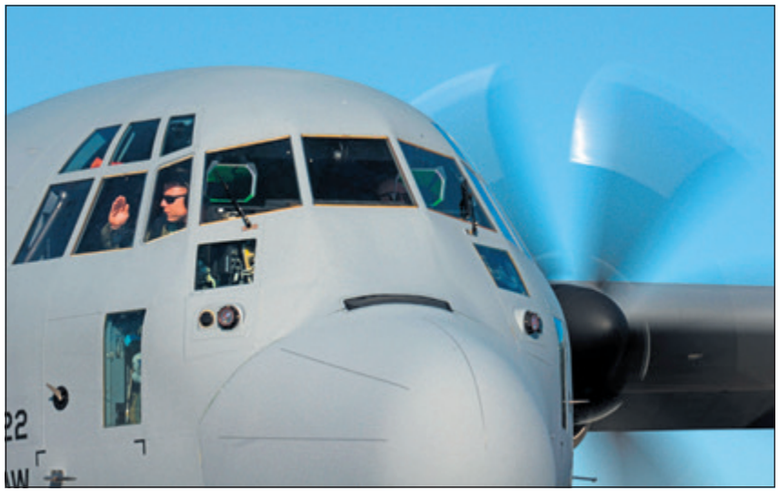
Capt. Jonathan Hansen, 37th Airlift Squadron pilot and Operation Atlantic Resolve mission commander, wears a Polish air force patch over his OAR patch Oct. 16 on Powidz Air Base, Poland. The mission of OAR is to enhance interoperability while simultaneously maintaining regional security with the Polish air force.



A U.S. Airmen assigned to the 37th Airlift Squadron returns a salute from his crew chief before departing Powidz Air Base, Poland, Oct. 16 on a familiarization flight during Operation Atlantic Resolve. Airmen flew four C-130 Hercules aircraft around the OAR area of responsibility to begin familiarizing themselves with the terrain as well as the how the different aircraft fly in formation.

Lt. Col. Lance Allred, 435th Contingency Response Squadron director of operations, listens to a question during an Operation Atlantic Resolve mission brief Oct. 16 on Powidz Air Base, Poland. The first day of flying during this iteration of OAR was familiarization flights for the 37th Airlift Squadron and 934th Airlift Wing pilots.

Pillowcase project helps KMC youth put fears to bed

by Airman 1st Class Milton Hamilton Jr.
86th Airlift Wing Public Affairs

Volunteers prepare to train Kaiserslautern Military Community children for the Red Cross's Pillowcase Project beginning in January on Ramstein Air Base.

The Red Cross' Pillowcase Project is a free disaster preparedness program for third- through fifth-graders.

"The Pillowcase Project has been around for four years, but this is the first year that it is being implemented in the overseas military communities," said Christine Spalding, Red Cross division volunteer partner.

This project is the first step for the Red Cross to start getting kids involved in disaster preparedness.

"The Pillowcase Project began in New Orleans during hurricane Katrina after the Red Cross region president noticed that college students, whom were only allowed one small bag during the evacuation, were leaving with their necessities in pillow cases," Spalding said.

According to Spalding, the region president thought a pillow, something everyone has in their home, was a great tool to use to educate children on disaster preparedness.

The Red Cross then partnered with a large corporation to fund the idea and start the training.

"Depending on where you are in the world, the training is more centered on certain specific disasters," Spalding said. "The training could range from wildfire to flood or hurricane preparedness."

In Germany, this project concentrates more on fire safety, since hurricanes and other natural disasters aren't too prevalent in the area.

"KMC children are scheduled to learn how to check doors to make sure there isn't a fire on the other side, how to get low and how to make a map of the house, so they'll have an escape route as well as learn the differences between wants and needs, during emergency situations," Spalding said.

"We also teach our kids how to manage stress in a crisis," Spalding said. "The stress management skills we teach translate well for school and at home, allowing kids to think more rationally."

Last year in the United States, approximately 260,000 kids were trained by the Pillowcase Project, Spalding said.

"The goal for our European division is to train at least 2,500 kids," Spalding said. "I feel we will surpass our initial goal though, because in the KMC, we have just shy of 2,000 kids."

Supplies sit on the table for the Red Cross' Pillowcase project Oct. 13 on Ramstein Air Base. The project aims to teach disaster preparedness to third- through fifth-graders.

The Red Cross is currently training volunteers to teach the upcoming January and February Pillowcase classes.

Volunteers need to be at least 18 years old and be able to pass a background check. The next training class for volunteers is scheduled for Saturday.

Homeschool groups interested in hosting a presentation and volunteers interested in participating in the Pillowcase Project may call the Ramstein Red Cross office at 480-2171 or 06371-47-2171 or email ramstein@redcross.org.

THE DEFINITIVE LAST 5 DAYS

DELIVERY OF ALL UNIQUE ITEMS AT "SWEET HOME RAMSTEIN" TAKES PLACE UNTIL OCT. 30 AT ANY ACCEPTABLE PRICE.

The total sale of all furniture and carpet in the city center ends on Monday, Oct. 30 for "Sweet Home Ramstein," so it is down to the last hours. There are only 5 days left to sell the inventory. Then the time limit for this location is up. Monday is the last chance to make the deal of the year for those who appreciate quality workmanship and noble ambiance at the Landstuhler Straße 14.

The decision has been made that all remaining carpets, furniture and accessories will be passed on to the liquidators next week. But since they pay only a fraction of the value, "Sweet Home" has decided to give a farewell gift to the people: "While we can no longer determine what happens after the goods are handed over, we can still ensure that everyone will benefit from the end of our era — and not just wholesalers," says the sales manager.

What he indicates is a sensation: So that as little as possible part of the stock on hand is virtually given away in few days to the liquidators, the hitherto existing fixed prices is abolished with immediate effect and the team is authorized to sell the inventory in the last hours to every suitable bid! The Sweet Home Collection still includes high quality carpets in absolutely all patterns and dimensions, complemented by paintings, mirrors and other accessories as well as solid wood furniture.

The specialty shop in Ramstein is open for these last days, on Thursday, 26th October, Friday, 27th October and Saturday 28th October, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. as well as on Sunday, Oct. 29, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The very last date is then on Monday, 30th October, also from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Landstuhler Straße 14 (tel. 063 71/83875 57).

Retiree Appreciation Day: Honoring those who served

Col. John Zapata, 86th Mission Support Group commander, and Col. William Galbraith, 21st Theater Sustainment Command deputy commander, hosted a Retiree Appreciation Day event Oct. 18 at the Ramstein Officers' Club.

The ceremony invited all members of the Kaiserslautern Military Community to honor service members who served in the military in the past and to provide a forum of resources for retirees living in the area.

The Joint Color Guard led the start of the formal event, followed by a speech from guest speaker Col. Timothy Hudson, Landstuhl Medical Regional Center commander, and was concluded by Zapata and Galbraith pinning more than 60 Vietnam veterans in the room.

Retirees participated in a raffle and received service from all four of the Army dental clinics in the KMC.

"I think Retiree Appreciation Day is important not only to the retirees but to their families as well," Zapata said. "I just like everyone getting together. I like getting to spend time with these folks that have retired just to share stories and exchange experiences. The other thing is the events we have set up for retirees seem to grow in magnitude with each year. I'm really pleased to see this increase in the service provided to our retirees."

Retirees, such as retired U.S. Air Force Chief Master Sgt. Leon Sidoruk, confirmed the importance of this event.

"I was very impressed, indeed," Sidoruk said. "The friendly atmosphere, the great reception and everyone being so kind to us was nice to see. Sometimes retirees can feel forgotten, but this made us feel really appreciated."

The Joint Color Guard ceremony and both national anthems, sang by a U.S. Air Forces in Europe Band performer, were well received by members of the audience.

"Hearing the German national anthem and our national anthem was beautiful and, you know, when you see our colors, you feel the great sense of pride," Sidoruk said.

Sidoruk looks forward to next year's Retiree Appreciation Day and expressed gratitude for the continued support the Kaiserslautern Military Community shows for its retirees.

"I feel at home," Sidoruk said. "For 45 years of my life I've been a part of the U.S. Air Force. This base is my home and these people are my family."

Friendship concert celebrates longstanding partnership

by Mary Ann Davis

U.S. Army Garrison Rheinland-Pfalz and the city of Kaiserslautern sponsored a German-American Friendship Concert to celebrate their harmonious partnership Oct. 14 at the Fruchthalle.

The U.S. Army Europe Band and Chorus played for a sold-out house of nearly 600 guests for the fourth year in a row, delighting audience members with a wide range of music from classical, contemporary and swing tunes that had listeners dancing in their seats.

Although the German and English languages differ in many ways, "music is the universal language," according to American poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and musical events like these bring both cultures together melodiously, said Col. Keith Igyarto, USAG RP commander.

"This concert is truly a symbol of our friendship and serves as an opportunity to say thank you to this great city, which provides a home away from home to our Soldiers, civilian employees and families and the selfless, generous hospitality for the many Americans in the greater Kaiserslautern region," Igyarto said.

U.S. Army Europe Band and Chorus singers perform a rendition of "Tage wie diese," at the German-American Friendship Concert Oct. 14 at the Fruchthalle in Kaiserslautern. The event, sponsored by the U.S. Army Garrison Rheinland-Pfalz and the city of Kaiserslautern, celebrated their relationship throughout the years and provided an opportunity to interact as friends and neighbors.

To emphasize that theme and play on the language, the commander presented a gift to Kaiserslautern Mayor Dr. Susanne Wimmer-Leonhardt — a "Cymbal of Friendship," using the musical accouterment with an appreciation engraved upon it.

Wimmer-Leonhardt was in-tune with the commander's sentiment.

"It is a great honor for us to welcome the United States Army Band and Chorus here in Kaiserslautern," Wimmer-Leonhardt said. "This event has become a real highlight in our event calendar, and I am happy to see such a great turnout again this year."

In the 70 years that the armed forces have been in the Kaiserslautern area, many friendships have formed, she said, and Germany and the United States have grown together in a very special way here in the Western Palatinate, which has shaped the region and made it a unique place to work and live.

"We are very appreciative of you and would like to emphasize that we are very thankful for your presence here," the mayor added. "This appreciation is mutual, as I have come to learn during our many encounters. All the better that we can share this appreciation at the German-American Friendship Concert each year."

Lastly, the USAG RP commander said, "This concert celebrates the relationships we've developed throughout the years and gives us a chance to interact as friends and neighbors. We look forward to continuing our partnership and this tradition symbolized by 'Friendship through Music.'"

Ramstein SERE specialists train air crew

Fire prevention

Illustration by Airman 1st Class Savannah Waters

In the Oct. 13 edition, the KA published a series of photos demonstrating fire prevention methods. One of the photos and captions relayed that flour could be used to extinguish a kitchen fire. Fire prevention officers say that flour is a combustible substance and should not be used to put out fires. Instead people should use baking soda and cover the pan with a lid, if the fire is small, to smother it. If the fire is large, a fire extinguisher is the recommended action.

Ingredients (for 4 people)

4 pointed peppers, red
8 shallots
2 garlic cloves
½ cup chopped parsley
4 stalks marjoram
1 pound hamburger meat
2 eggs
Salt and pepper for seasoning
¼ teaspoon sweet paprika powder
3 tablespoons bread crumbs
1 pound chanterelles
3-4 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 – 1 ½ cup vegetable broth
2 containers heavy cream (less than 2 cups)

Preheat oven to 180 degrees Celsius. Wash peppers and cut in half. Remove seeds. Finely dice 2 of the shallots and garlic and chop herbs.

In a bowl, place hamburger meat, 50% of herbs, garlic, eggs, bread crumbs, finely diced shallots, salt, pepper, and paprika. Mix well. Season the peppers on the inside with salt and pepper. Divide beef into all the peppers.

Peel the remaining shallots and cut in half. Then cut each half in 4 wedges.

Wash chanterelles to remove all dirt. (If they are very dirty, add 1-2 tablespoons of flour to the water you are washing them in - It makes removing the dirt much easier. Then strain and let dry.)

Heat oil in oven-proof pan. Add shallot wedges and chanterelles. Let simmer for 3 - 4 minutes.

Add 1 cup of broth. Add the remaining herbs, and stuffed peppers and bring to boil.

Remove from stove and place in oven for 30 minutes. After 15 minutes add ¼ cup heavy cream. Continue to add heavy cream every 5 minutes. You might have to add the rest of the broth while the pan is in the oven if the sauce is too thick. Remove from oven. Taste and re-season to match your taste. A nice side dish are mashed potatoes or baguette. A nice plate of mixed salad would also work well to add contrast flavor to the stuffed pepper.

An Italian bottle of Bardolino red wine or a Montepulciano d'Abruzzo match this meal nicely.

If you prefer to stay local, try a bottle of Dornfelder red wine.

Biography

Klaus learned from an early age that he had an interest in food and cooking when he started helping in his parent's restaurant at the age of ten. He enjoyed the environment so much, that he started an apprenticeship at the Augsburger Hotel Riegele at the age of 16. Klaus has been working in hotels and restaurants ever since, including the famous Ecke Stuben in Augsburg and the Post Hotel in Garmisch-Partenkirchen. Throughout his career he has been cooking traditional German and international dishes and found his love for crossover cuisine. Many of the recipes Klaus presents are his own crossover creations, which he is happy to share with you.

Klaus has been offering private cooking classes for around three years now for groups up to eight people, either in your own home or in Klaus' kitchen in the KMC, for slow food enjoyment with family and friends.

AUSA Volunteer Family of the Year Award

Story by Staff Sgt. Dee Jackson
108th Training Command
(Initial Entry Training)

The Association of the United States Army Volunteer family of the Year Award recognizes volunteerism, annually highlighting a family whose efforts go above and beyond in promoting the well-being of Soldiers and their family members. This year AUSA recognized the family of Eryn Seidl, an Army Reserve civilian from the 7th Mission Support Command in Kaiserslautern. It is the first time an Army Reserve family has been selected for the award and the first time the family of an Army civilian has received the award.

"It's a great accomplishment for someone to be the family of the year for the entire United States Army, and we're really proud that this year's family is an Army Reserve family," said Lt. Gen. Charles Luckey, chief of the Army Reserve and commanding general of the United States Army Reserve Command

The Seidl family, headed by patriarch Sgt. 1st Class (ret.) Eryn Seidl of Kaiserslautern and his wife, Anja, have been consistently engaged in the planning, logistics, cooking and other support to the military community.

"It's awesome to be the first Army Reserve/Department of Defense civilian family to win this award," said Anja Seidl, cultural liaison and Family Readiness Group leader for the Army.

"It doesn't matter if you're in the reserve, active Army, active guard reserve or civilian. We are all one family," she said.

Seidl has made volunteering a part of his life and had some advice for Army Reserve families.

"Start early and start young. … Also, get your children involved so that it's a culture they get used to," he said. "Make sure you track your hours, because you'll do a lot more volunteering than you realize."

For the Seidl family, volunteering is as common as walking down the road. They have done everything from organizing a family day for a unit with 150 people to volunteering as a firefighter during 9/11 to organizing a community festival for 3,000 people, such as the pre-Halloween Trunk-or-Treat festival.

"The Seidl family is a great example of how the entire team supports every single Soldier — the father, the mother to the two children and the grandmother. They're all supported in every way and every mission," said Julie Luckey, Army Reserve senior spouse. "We're so appreciative of all their efforts and the efforts of all our family members."

For more information on volunteering, call (844) 663-3269 or visit www.arfp.org

Bridging 4,500 miles to lend a helping hand

Senior Airman Tryphena Mayhugh
86th Airlift Wing Public Affairs

Staff Sgt. Alberto Garcia, 86th Civil Engineer Squadron lead firefighter, dedicated hours of his time volunteering at the American Red Cross' call center established on Ramstein Air Base to lend a hand to the relief efforts in Puerto Rico for victims of Hurricane Maria. Garcia was born and raised in Puerto Rico, and feeling powerless to help his mother, sister, and wife's family who were living on the island over 4,500 miles away, he helped all those he could through the reunification mission at the call center.

As the 13th named storm, seventh hurricane, fourth major hurricane and second Category 5 hurricane in the 2017 Atlantic hurricane season, Hurricane Maria caused devastation across the northeast Caribbean. One of the areas hit by the tropical storm was the U.S. territory of Puerto Rico, reaching the island's shores Sept. 20 and causing massive damage to the entire island.

In order to aid relief efforts in Puerto Rico, the American Red Cross stood up a call center on Ramstein Air Base with a mission to reunify those effected by the storm.

Staff Sgt. Alberto Garcia, 86th Civil Engineer Squadron lead firefighter, was born and raised in Puerto Rico, so when he heard about the Red Cross looking for volunteers, he immediately joined.

"Being in the call center to answer those phone calls, it was really tough," Garcia said. "A lot of Puerto Ricans, we get emotionally involved really easily. It was tough at the beginning for all the volunteers because we knew what they needed, but we couldn't provide it at that point since we were miles away. It was tough answering those phone calls, but I would do it again."

More than 4,500 miles from Ramstein, Garcia's mother, sister and his wife's entire family live in Puerto Rico and were there when Hurricane Maria hit.

"One thing that was so heartbreaking and heartwarming at the same time, we had volunteers who hadn't heard from their families on the ground, but it was so important to them they were there to help everybody and anybody, not just their family," said Chris Spalding, Service to the Armed Forces American Red Cross European, Middle Eastern, and African Division partner. "They collectively feel we are one humankind, and we need to work together to make things better. I was so moved by our call center operations."

Garcia and his family were glad to hear their families were safe and well. Hurricane Maria took the lives of 88 people, 43 of them in Puerto Rico. After taking the first few phone calls, Garcia had to take a moment to compose himself before he could continue, as many emotions were whirling through his head.

"Sadness was the biggest one, and feeling helpless at the time," Garcia said. "You know those are your people. If you don't know them, you probably know someone who does because Puerto Rico isn't a big island. I think sadness and powerless would be the main two emotions I felt during the time I was (at the call center). It was an eye-opening experience.

"If you look at the 10 toughest jobs in the world, the first is a U.S. military member and the second one is a firefighter," he continued. "So to be able to be successful at my job, I have to be resilient. Whenever I got those calls, I closed my eyes and thought about how at that moment those people needed me to answer the phone, so step back, take a deep breath, go back to the basics, do what they taught me in my resiliency training and answer the next phone call. For some people, it might be a little bit difficult, but if you never forget what you are there for and never lose focus, you should be fine."

Between the call centers, those who provided snacks at the call centers and those who deployed to Puerto Rico, the ARC had almost 1,600 volunteers give their time to help others.

"I'm never surprised when the military community steps up because that's what they do best," Spalding said. "They are always the first to step up and answer the call, and it's not just the active-duty members. It's the spouses, contractors, civilian personnel and the retiree community. I'm never surprised by how wonderful the response is when we raise our hand and say we need something.

"It's really unfortunate the Red Cross collectively does their best when someone else's situation is absolutely the worst it could possibly be," she continued. "We will always, especially in the military community, be there to help take care of another human being when they are in need. For me, I personally feel very positive about that, and I am so unbelievably proud of how many people have stepped up — newer volunteers, seasoned volunteers, everybody working together."

Volunteering at the Red Cross' call center was not the first time Garcia had interacted with the organization. In 2011, his father passed away and he was impressed by how they helped him.

Having experienced firsthand what the ARC offers to those in need, Garcia is working towards being in charge of the Ramstein Disaster Response Team the Red Cross wants to establish on the base.

"When I went to the Red Cross to volunteer for the call center, I saw them running back and forth trying to make this operation a success. And they did that, so I saw that sense of urgency," Garcia said. "The experience I had when my dad passed away: They contacted me, and I was on the next flight over to go home. Seeing how well the Red Cross acts whenever they are called upon, it helped me to be a volunteer for them. I told them they have probably earned a volunteer for life from me."

Being a firefighter, Garcia knows what it's like to help someone on one of the worst days of their life and feels if he leaves them with a smile he has done his job. He said when he was answering calls from Puerto Rico, it was the same way; if they ended that call with a smile, then he did his job.

"I want to say thank you to the Red Cross for giving me the opportunity," Garcia said. "They made me feel like part of their team. I also want to say thank you to my leadership who supported me all the way. To Puerto Rico, they will be fine if they stay together like they always do. El coqui is a small Puerto Rican frog that sings really loud, and a good friend of mine called me the other day and said no matter how destroyed the island looks, el coqui is still singing. So that's a good sign."

Puerto Rico is still recovering from the aftermath of Hurricane Maria, but through the dedication of people like Garcia and those at the ARC, a helping hand can reach across the globe to provide support and comfort for those who have lost so much.

Otterbach sponsors Halloween fest Monday

by Petra Lessoing
86th Airlift Wing Public Affairs

This year, Otterbach will celebrate the 10th anniversary of its annual Halloween fest Monday at the village square. Since Germans observe 500 years of Protestant reformation on Oct. 31, organizers decided to celebrate Halloween a day earlier.

Youth offices of the Otterbach-Otterberg union community will sponsor the fest under the motto, "Pirates and the Water World."

Visitors will be able to enjoy a variety of activities and games, which are scheduled to start at 5 p.m. in the center of the village.

First of all, there will be a costume contest for children and adults. Winners will get awarded. Visitors can also take part in a pumpkin contest and receive prizes for their creations.

A campfire will be set up, and stands will be available to serve food and drink specialties. Disc jockey Wolfgang will provide musical entertainment in the children's disco party tent. The acoustic band 7661 will perform live.

The highlight of this Halloween event will be a scary lights hike starting at 7 p.m. Participating hikers can enjoy a creepy play with elaborate light and sound installations. Organizers emphasize that this is an artsy play for young and old guests. There won't be any monsters, witches and ghosts touching or following the hikers.

Proceeds will go to local youth projects.

The scary lights hike takes participants along scary scenarios Monday night in Otterbach.

Germans observe religious holidays Tuesday, Wednesday

by Petra Lessoing
86th Airlift Wing Public Affairs

This year, reformation day, which is Oct. 31, has been declared as legal holiday throughout Germany to celebrate the 500th anniversary of reformation by Martin Luther. Normally, the religious holiday for Protestants is only observed as a legal holiday in the states of Brandenburg, Mecklenburg-Vorpommern, Saxony, Saxony-Anhalt and Thueringen.

In 1517, priest Martin Luther posted his "95 Theses" onto the church door in Wittenberg, Germany, and condemned excesses and corruption of the Roman Catholic church. The event is known as the beginning of Protestant Reformation.

One day later, Nov. 1 is known as "Allerheiligen," or "All Saints Day." German Catholics visit cemeteries to light candles and to decorate the gravesites of deceased family members and friends with flowers or wreaths made of fir tree branches, pine cones and dried flowers.

Nov. 1 is observed as a legal holiday in the German states with mainly Catholic population such as Rheinland-Pfalz, Saarland, Baden-Wuerrtemberg and Nordrhein-Westfalen. In the other states the religious holiday is a regular workday.

The origin of All Saints Day dates back to May 13, 610, when Pope Boniface IV dedicated a special day to all saints who never received their own memorial day. Old calendars show that almost every day is dedicated to a saint. In the Pantheon in Rome, Pope Boniface honored all saints who lived with Christian ideals in all countries of the world. In 1835, Pope Gregor IV moved All Saints Day to Nov. 1.

November is known as the month of remembrance, contemplation and mourning. Protestants remember the dead on "Totensonntag," Nov. 26. It always falls on the last Sunday before the first Advent Sunday. In 1816, this memorial day was introduced for the first time in Prussia, from where it spread throughout the years to all Protestant regions.

The National Day of Mourning will be observed Nov. 19. It is dedicated to the memory of the dead of World War I and II and the victims of Nazi terror. Wreath-laying ceremonies will take place in Ramstein-Miesenbach and Kaiserslautern.

Another religious, but not legal, holiday is the Day of Prayer and Repentance Nov. 22.

Medicine fall cleanup saves lives

by Maj. Julie Meek
Landstuhl Regional Medical Center and 86th Medical Squadron

Imagine walking into your bathroom and finding a prescription bottle open on the floor with pills spilled out. Then looking up to see your toddler with white powder from the tablets on her hands and in her mouth. This was a reality for me a just few years ago. I had no idea how many tablets she had taken and I was horrified.

I immediately called the Poison Control Hotline and explained the situation. I wasn't sure how many, if any, tablets my daughter might have swallowed, but the amazing hotline staff shared all the information they had for this type of medicine overdose. They told me what symptoms to watch for, when I might need to head to the emergency room and how long to watch my child closely.

I was incredibly grateful to have that resource but also ashamed that I put my child at risk. Ashamed as a parent but also as a pharmacist. It turned out to be a mild over-the-counter allergy medicine, but I knew that even mild medications can be dangerous for small children, especially in large quantities.

That very day, I gathered all of the medicines in my house and put them in a safe place. I also took out everything that was expired and what we didn't need or use and disposed of them safely. As a parent and as a pharmacist, I ask you to do the same.

Check to be sure all medicine is out of reach from curious kids, teens testing limits and hungry pets. Properly dispose of medication that is expired, unwanted or unneeded by taking it to a military pharmacy or a Drug Take Back event held each year in April and October. You can also safely dispose of medication at home by mixing pills or liquids with something that won't taste good, like dirt, kitty litter or used coffee grounds. Then put the mixture in a sealed plastic bag and throw it in your household trash. This will prevent drug seekers and animals from accessing dangerous medicine.

American Pharmacists Month
Know Your Medicine — Know Your Pharmacy Team

The Landstuhl Regional Medical Center pharmacy has been celebrating Pharmacists Month throughout October by promoting the pharmacy profession, highlighting tools to maximize medication use and empowering patients to "educate before you medicate."

Your pharmacist, pharmacy technician and doctor are a powerful team working to ensure the best selection and safest management of your medications. Pharmacists are available to provide answers to your medication questions.

For each prescription you receive, the pharmacy team checks your information, ensures the new medication will not interact with others and verifies that the medication and dosage are appropriate for your health condition.

The pharmacy team relies on patients to keep us informed about all medications and supplements you currently take to prevent possible medication interactions.

Here are some other things you can do to help "Know Your Medicine — Know Your Pharmacy Team":

- Schedule a "medication check-up" with a clinical pharmacist. Bring all of your prescriptions, over-the-counter medications, vitamins and supplements to this appointment so the pharmacist can examine them for expiration dates, potential drug interactions and other potential concerns. The clinical pharmacist can also make or recommend changes to prescriptions to reduce potential side effects and interactions and overall improve your quality of life.
- Pick up a medication wallet card from your pharmacy and keep it handy for each doctor's appointment. Don't forget to include all of your nonprescription medication, herbal products, vitamins and supplements!
- Help us show appreciation for our pharmacy team this month with a simple thank you.

Now is a great time to clean out your medicine cabinet, review all your medications, remove any that are expired or unneeded and bring them to a military pharmacy for disposal. The pharmacy team is always here to assist you with great information and smiling faces, ready to help partner with you in your health care.

Ultimately, you have the responsibility to manage your medications and your pharmacy team is here to help keep you safe and answer your questions.

Halloween activities take place in front of the "Schloss," or "palace," in Zweibruecken Saturday and Monday.

Horse-drawn carriages offer free rides during the Halloween spectacle Saturday through Monday in Zweibruecken.

Children enjoy Halloween activities such as the monster castle starting at 3 p.m. Monday in Zweibruecken.

86th Airlift Wing Public Affairs

Due to the German holiday Reformation Day on Tuesday, Zweibruecken will sponsor its traditional Halloween spectacle with a parade starting at 5:30 p.m. Monday on Hallplatz.

Actually, the city will start to offer activities under the motto, "Halloween," on Saturday when visitors come to the city center for shopping.

Also, on Sunday, stores will be open from 1 to 6 p.m. and Sunday. Children can join pumpkin carving, jump on a bouncy castle or take a ride on a fairy tale merry-go-round on Schlossplatz. They also will have the chance to take part in arrow throwing or turning the fortune wheel.

A vendor market will be set up on Alexanderplatz. In the walking areas, food stands will serve hot dogs, witches cakes, crepes and magic drinks.

The weekly flea market will be on Herzogplatz and not on Schlossplatz.

Shuttle buses will be available to transport customers to and from different shopping locations in the center of town, the Hilgard-Center and the Outlet-Center. On all three days, horse-drawn carriages will offer free rides between the Hilgard-Center and the center of town.

On Monday, scary activities will start at 3 p.m. on Schlossplatz. There will be a monster castle and dragon-head where children can join a scary test of courage. The German Child Protection Federation will present a monster show at 4 p.m. in its tent.

Spectacle start on Hallplatz will be at 5:30 p.m. near the fountain with a performance by the dance group Traumzeit. Scary figures accompanied by musicians and people in costumes will then walk in a monster parade to Schlossplatz. Fire magicians will show off their skills in front of the "Schloss," or "palace," and a fireworks display will be lit on the grounds..

A photographer of a local newspaper will go around and take photos of persons in original costumes and with nicely painted faces from 5 to 7 p.m. The 20 best costumes will be published in the newspaper.

Open to all branches of service. For more information, please visit WebTrac or Parent Central Services, Rhine Ordnance Bks., Bldg. 162, 541-9066 or 0611-143-541-9066.

Education Notes

Preschool Thanksgiving Storytime at Rheinland-Pfalz Library

On Nov. 22, from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., Rheinland-Pfalz Library is hosting a special holiday storytime to celebrate the season of Thanksgiving. This entertaining event will include stories and songs of thanks, along with a fun activity, for young children, ages 3 to 5, and their parents. No sign-up required. For more information, contact Rheinland-Pfalz Library at Landstuhl, Bldg. 3810, 486-7322; 06371-86-7322.

Engineering Classes

Children will be introduced to the fundamentals of engineering. Students will have an opportunity to build electrical engines, working draw-bridges, fully functioning cranes and basic gear boxes. Students will also be introduced to engineering concepts using pneumatic principles and equipment. All of this is done using the registered brand of Fischertechnik materials. Worksheets will be handed out so that children can expand their understanding of learned concepts outside of the classroom. For more information or to register, please contact Parent Central Services, Rhine Ordnance Bks., Bldg. 162, 541-9066; 0611-143-541-9066.

KMC Teen Shuttle

Child and Youth Services offer a KMC Teen Shuttle service. Pick-up/drop-off points are located throughout Vogelweh, Vogelweh Housing, Ramstein, and Landstuhl. ID card, shuttle card and permissions slips are required to ride the shuttle. Apply for your Shuttle Card at Parent Central Services, Rhine Ordnance Bks., Bldg. 162, 541-9066 or 0611-143-541-9066.

Clubs Available at Landstuhl School Age Center

Did you know that The Landstuhl School Age Center has several clubs open to students, Grades 1-5! Weekly clubs include theater, fitness, art, Lego robotics and film. Registration with CYSS is required. Enrollment fees are based on total family income. Contact the Landstuhl School Age Center for more information, 486-7281 or 06371-86-7281.

Homework Assistance for Teens

USAG Rheinland-Pfalz Youth Programs provide a homework lab, tutoring and one-on-one homework assistance during Power Hour at the Youth Center, 3 to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Homework contracts are available to clarify direction of help needed and to get the student, Academic Program Manager and parents on the same page for daily or weekly goals and expectations. This is a great resource for youth that need additional help or just a quiet place to focus on their academics. If you are interested, please contact Landstuhl Youth Center, 486-8658, 06371-86-8658 or Sembach Youth Center, 545-1316 or 0611-143-545-1316.

Preschool Storytime at Rheinland-Pfalz Library

Rheinland-Pfalz Library hosts a story time for preschool-aged children at 10:30 a.m. every Wednesday from September through July. This entertaining event includes stories, music and crafts for young children ages 3 to 5 years old and their parents. No sign-up required. For more information, contact Rheinland-Pfalz Library in Landstuhl, Bldg. 3810, at 486-7322 or 06371-86-7322.

Fire Prevention Month

Courtesy photo

During Fire Prevention Month, the Ramstein Fire Department fire fighters came to the K-3 students at Landstuhl Elementary Middle School. Each class had a chance to talk to the fire fighters, take a look at the fire truck and answer questions about fire safety. The fire fighters also brought Sparky and his "Little Brother." Sparky, of course, is always a hit with all students. Ms. Alexis Boyanowski's class went to see the fire fighters as well, and they had a great time.

Cardboard challenge

Mikayla Grant, Kaiserslautern Middle School student (left), is working on a cardboard challenge project Oct. 19, and Peter Keel, Kaiserslautern Elementary School student, is showing off his robot, which he put together. KES accepted the cardboard challenge, and children from the elementary school and their parents created rocket ships, cars, games and monsters, all from recycled materials. Their endeavor was aided by the Keystone Club from Kaiserslautern High School, the Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics Club from KMS, and the 569th US. Forces Police Squadron. They worked as a community and cut, taped and glued their masterpieces together.

Jigsaw (R)

The eighth installment of the SAW horror franchise. A mysterious madman rounds up a group of victims to play sadistic games of life and death. Police soon find evidence that link the crimes to Jigsaw, the infamous killer who died 10 years earlier.
Starring: Matt Passmore, Callum Keith Rennie, Clé Bennett, Hannah Emily Anderson

American Made (R)

American Made is based on the outrageous (and real) exploits of Barry Seal, a hustler and pilot unexpectedly recruited by the CIA to run one of the biggest covert operations in U.S. history.
Starring: Tom Cruise, Domhnall Gleeson, Sarah Wright, E. Roger Mitchell

Thank You for Your Service (R)

Based on the bestselling book by Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter and author David Finkel. The film follows a group of U.S. soldiers returning from Iraq who struggle to integrate back into family and civilian life, while living with the memory of a war that threatens to destroy them long after they've left the battlefield.
Starring: Miles Teller, Haley Bennett Joe Cole, Amy Schumer

The Lego Ninjago Movie (PG)

In this big-screen NINJAGO adventure, the battle for NINJAGO City calls to action young Master Builder Lloyd, aka the Green Ninja, along with his friends, who are all secret ninja warriors. They must defeat evil warlord Garmadon, the worst guy ever. Starring: Jackie Chan, Justin Theroux, Dave Franco

My Little Pony: The Movie (PG)

A new dark force threatens Ponyville, and the Mane 6 — Twilight Sparkle, Applejack, Rainbow Dash, Pinkie Pie, Fluttershy, and Rarity — embark on an unforgettable journey beyond Equestria where they meet new friends and exciting challenges on a quest to use the magic of friendship and save their home.
Starring: Emily Blunt, Kristin Chenoweth, Liev Schreiber, Michael Peñas

Suburbicon (R)

Suburbicon is a peaceful, idyllic suburban community with affordable homes and manicured lawns...the perfect place to raise a family, and in the summer of 1959, the Lodge family is doing just that. But the tranquil surface masks a disturbing reality, as husband and father Gardner Lodge must navigate the town's dark underbelly of betrayal, deceit, and violence. This is a tale of very flawed people making very bad choices. This is Suburbicon.
Starring: Matt Damon, Julianne Moore Noah Jupe, Oscar Issac

Geostorm (PG-13)

After an unprecedented series of natural disasters threatened the planet, the world's leaders came together to create an intricate network of satellites to control the global climate and keep everyone safe. But now, something has gone wrong - the system built to protect the Earth is attacking it, and it's a race against the clock to uncover the real threat before a worldwide geostorm wipes out everything... and everyone along with it.
Starring: Gerard Butler, Jim Sturgess Abbie Cornish, Alexandra Maria Lara

Introducing Local Businesses

BIG EMMA RAMSTEIN

A favorite restaurant for Americans offering generous portions at very fair prices. The name BIG EMMA is derived from a 19th century maid who worked in a mansion. Emma was known for good service and good food. It is in this tradition that today the good service and good food are served at Restaurant BIG EMMA. BIG EMMA places great emphasis on freshness, so all sauces, herb butter, noodles, burgers, salad dressings, and Schnitzel are all homemade. Up to five permanent staff cooks prepare everything that is offered. Their ice cream is delicious and unique, prepared by a special pastry chef who supplies only to ice cream parlors. Some dishes worth mentioning are the BIG EMMA HIGHTOWER- Angus beef burger, salmon and steaks from the hot lava stone and steak varieties, including sirloin, veal steak, tenderloin, and dry aged. There are also wonderful salads that can be created from the self-service salad counter. This in addition to great burgers, sausages, chicken and schnitzel dishes plus many more. A fantastic dessert menu completes your dining experience. Please note if you order a ½ portion or full-size portion, you will get a free kid's meal! Mastercard and Visa are accepted at the restaurant; BIG EMMA is open every day from 11:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.

CASA D' FLAVOURS

Casa d' Flavours Ristorante and Pizzeria in Einsiedlerhof is a warm and friendly place serving a variety of delicious meals, including tapas, pizza, pasta, German steaks and schnitzel just to name a few. The Chef and owner Imed Knissi has 22 years of experience under his belt, including a 6-year stint at the Wartenberger Mühle as restaurant manger and organizer for banquets and various events. Imed and Lisa, the head waitress, also worked together previously at the Blechhammer Hotel and Restaurant. The restaurant was previously the Restaurant Italia before rebranding to Casa d' Flavours. The interior has been renovated nicely giving a warmth and comfort for a nice relaxing meal. The restaurant has a function room for up to 35 people, ideal for hail and farewells, birthdays, or any other gatherings. Casa d' Flavours has been open for seven months now and welcomes your visit. Mastercard, Visa, EC card are all accepted. Hours of operation are Mon - Fri 11 a.m. - 2:30 p.m. and 5 - 10:30 p.m., Saturday 5 - 10:30 p.m., Sunday noon - 2:30 p.m. and 5 - 10:30 p.m. Please visit this wonderful new restaurant. They are waiting to serve you with great food and hospitality!

Roadhouse Ktown

A thick, juicy beef patty, cheese losing its hard edges as it melts overtop, a slathering of sauce, a couple of slices of smoky, salty bacon, a bit of onion, some tomato and crisp lettuce all tucked between two halves of a bun, if this is all you want you are right at the ROADHOUSE Ktown Einsiedlerhof, located just outside the Pulaski gate. How to make a good Burger??? It's all about mouthwatering flavour and super-fresh wholesome food, handmade with love from the finest local ingredients. Here you get the 7oz premium beef burgers made out of daily delivered fresh beef. Changing specials are awaiting you, at the moment they offer 50/50 Burgers, the 7oz patty is done with 50 % ground beef and 50 % ground bacon. A big variety of flavored chicken wings, chicken burgers, different starters and sides are awaiting you. Monday to Friday from 12:30 p.m. up to 9:00 p.m.

A colorful pumpkin art exhibition (as in art made out of pumpkins, you read that correctly!) awaits visitors of all ages at Gartenschau Kaiserslautern until October 31. This year's theme is 'Flies' and the results are truly spectacular. Admission costs €7 per adult and €5 per child. Dogs are not allowed on premises. For more information go to www.militaryingermany.com/event/pumpkin

The Raven

Fri, Oct 27

Kaiserslautern, Fruchthalle

"The Raven – painted music" is an art exhibition by Freddy Engel. 'Action painting' inspired the artist to paint to a dramatic reading of the poem by Edgar Allan Poe and resulted in dark, desperate and determined masterpieces which can be viewed at the Fruchthalle in Kaiserslautern from Monday to Friday until November 11. Admission is free. For more information go to www.militaryingermany.com/event/poe

Halloween Fright Nights

Sat, Oct 28

Hassloch, Holiday Park

Holiday Park Hassloch offers a terrifying program for horror fans aged 16 and older between October 28 and November 1. But little visitors needn't worry as King Pumpkin is in town as well and will entertain them with fun join-in activities, long before the park's most gruesome rise from their graves. Admission costs €30 per adult. For more information go to www.militaryingermany.com/event/holiday-park

Halloween festival Otterbach
